They say it's specifically designed to carry just the essentials needed for a day trip or trail ride, but for those of us who pack small, the MoJavi Saddlebag is perfect for getting inner tubes, tools, and other heavy items off your back on long rides without noticing it on your bike. They have a non-bulk fit that allows you to ride any kind of terrain, but wait... for just $219 bucks, you can even kick your leg over the bike without getting hung up; Oh yeah!
